

Higher taxes ahead for county residents

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

An increase of almost 24 percent for the Hancock County School District plus a two percent increase in county taxes was approved in a Friday Hancock County Board of Supervisors meeting.

Hancock School Superintendent Terrell Randolph requested an 8.11 mill increase for 1990-91, reflecting an increase of a half million dollars.

Randolph cited the addition of 220 students, transportation and insurance costs which were previously picked up by the state and the need for pay increases which have been neglected for the past four years, for the increased request in budget revenue.

One mill generates $1 for each $1,000 in assessed valuation, minus homestead and other exemptions. Operating budget revenue is derived from funds created from ad valorem taxes.

The county millage rate increased to 49.25 mills, a one mill increase over the previous year.

The Board of Supervisors is limited by state law to approve the needs of the school board, and if the expected revenues for the school fall short, the county must make up the difference.

Supervisor Mike Ladner of District 5 expressed the board's frustration saying, "We have no say so, whatsoever. The school can come in and mandate what ever they chose."

Randolph attempted to compare the growth in expected revenues of the county to that of the school board saying the county was still greater.

Supervisor Lisa Coward suggested Randolph compare apples to oranges saying, "You can't compare the whole county to a school district. That's ludicrous!"

The board approved the school board request.

Notre Dame de la Mer tax-exempt status granted

BY TRACI BONNEY

As of September 14, Notre Dame de la Mer is tax-exempt.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors accepted the recommendation Friday of Tax Assessor/Collector Edward D. Murtagh that the apartment complex for the elderly, handicapped and low-income residents be granted tax-exempt status based on new information recently given to Murtagh.

Murtagh, in a written report to the board of supervisors, stated that his original recommendation against exempt status was based partly on a letter from Craig Bounds of Sun-States Management, which handles the administration of Notre Dame de la Mer and other such complexes across the Coast, and partly on state law.

Bounds' letter stated that the apartment complex was a non-profit corporation "owned by the Catholic Diocese of Biloxi..." Murtagh's decision against tax-exempt status was based on a section of state law that declares that any religious society may own or hold: a house of worship, buildings annexed to it; a parish house community; educational facilities, etc. Apartment complexes are not on the list, Murtagh contended.

However, Bounds gave Murtagh last Wednesday a copy of a charter, granted in 1985, which shows that Notre Dame de la Mer is a separate non-profit corporation, not owned by the diocese. Its incorporators are diocese officials, but the corporation is an entity unto itself.

Supervisors approve Diamondhead road work

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors managed Friday to find the extra funds to cover road work cost on Diamondhead Drive East.

In order to cover the cost, the board allocated money from the county severance account to make up the expected shortfall in road funds.

The board rescinded last week's bid rejection by Bond and Fore, and accepted the proposed work. The bid time limit was to expire Friday.

During a Thursday workshop meeting, Larry Seal, county engineer, refused engineering fees on the Diamondhead Drive project in order to help defray costs.

Seal reported to the board during the workshop, "I told my people I want to know how much we are spending each day" in order to prevent shortfalls from occurring in the future.

Harold "Buz" Olsen, executive director of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission entered into agreement with the board to repair the Hancock High School access road, known as Road E.

Olsen expressed the Port and Harbor Commission's concern for a job well done, and reported their request for further engineering studies, in specific, surveillance of traffic in order to determine the appropriate overlay thickness.

The board approved several items for the Port and Harbor Commission, including authorization to proceed with proposals from Cecil Jones and Associates for master plan updating.

Ellis Cuevas, editor of The Sea Coast Echo appeared before the board in response to the naming of the multi-purpose county building on

UW Goal $110,000 set for campaign

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

A goal of $110,000 has been set for the 1990 United Way of Hancock County Campaign. This is an increase of $10,000 over 1989's campaign.

Tim Ryan of Bay St. Louis, campaign chairman stated, "Our goal this year is $110,000, and although it's the most we've ever attempted to raise, the needs of our community are far greater. It has been estimated that the 'fair share giving' potential in Hancock County is $400,000 to $700,000, if everyone gave just one hour's pay per month."

The campaign will get underway with a general kick-off dutch-treat breakfast Thursday at 7:30 a.m. at the Diamondhead Country Club. Arrangements for the kick-off are being handled by Pat Harvill, Hancock County UW special events chairman.

On Thursday, the Pacesetter Campaign results will be announced.

Ryan expects some 21 Hancock industries, businesses and organizations to be pacesetters.

The theme of this year's drive is "Because someone needs you."

Some 24 agencies are funded by the Hancock United Way, which is in its 26th campaign.

He and his wife, Meg, are the parents of a daughter, Hailey.

In Memoriam

In Loving Memory Of
KERRY WAYNE MALLEY
Born Sept. 19, 1960
Died Sept. 2, 1977

Each year when leaves turn autumn brown,
And float gently to the waiting ground,
My mind drifts back to memories of you

And the years we had,
Although few.
My love for you is still in my heart.

The bond cannot be broken
nor torn apart.
With each passing year the loneliness grows,
A terrible emptiness only a mother knows.

And if there is one thing
learned from my loss,
It's that each of us is asked to carry a cross.

And mine was so heavy that at times I'd swear—
But God never gives a cross too heavy to bear.

Sadly missed

Relatives and Friends

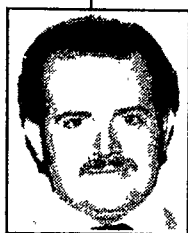

I don't think the foundation of the United States is beyond repair, but I do believe it is high time we begin to work on it.

The Bible says in Malachi 4:5-6, "Behold, I will send you Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the Lord: and he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children and the heart of the children to their fathers."

God is in the process of repairing the foundations of our families and our nation. All we have to do is let him work in our lives.

One more thing: don't forget to pray for our troops overseas.

RELIGION

LOOKING INSIDE

By Pastor Bob
Guidry, Jr.

Repairing the foundation

Have you ever looked back over the last 20 or 40 years and wondered, "How can things get messed up so quickly?"

Well, don't feel alone. Many people are asking the same question.

When I was working in construction, I learned that a house was only as stable as the foundation it was built upon.

We here in the United States have declared we are a nation built on Christian principles.

It is true that we were, but over the last 40 years our Christian foundation has been eroded away by humanism, atheism and dead churches

"having a form of godliness but denying the power." (2 Timothy 3:5)

The result of this eroding away of Christian principles has brought us to the terrible place we are today.

The American family is under attack from almost every direction possible. Our marriages end up in divorce; our children and adults are hooked on drugs and alcohol.

Our work force is all stressed out, and even with all the different forms of entertainment we are miserable.

As I stand back and look over our situation, it puzzles me that many people try to act as if everything is all right. We have become like an ostrich. We have stuck our heads in the ground and we think it will all go away.

It does not take a genius to see that the way we are doing things is not working.

It may sound like a fairy tale, but there was a time when most marriages did not end up in divorce, a time when our children and adults were not hooked on drugs, a time when most people had never heard of stress.

There was a time when the United States had a firm foundation built on Christian principles. And best of all, it worked.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

Bridging our clumsy moments

"I'm sorry! Wrong number!" Almost invariably, a clumsy silence follows that message—on both ends of the telephone line. There seems to be an instant freeze in thought production and an even deeper freeze in the ability to verbalize whatever communication one might want to make.

On the one hand, the caller does not know what else to say; is indeed too embarrassed and fearful to say anything else. On the other, the responder is usually too dumbfounded to mumble an, "Oh, it's all right," or something similar. In fact, the most common reaction is one of awkward, semi-offended silence.

After all these years, a simple Christian approach popped into mind when someone called me by mistake. "Better luck when you dial this time! Have a good day!" Why of course. That is what I should have been saying every time someone misdialed. Why didn't I think of it before? Who on God's earth did I allow myself to live under this clumsy attitude for so long?

For most of us, mental or verbal paralysis in the face of a wrong phone number is but the tip of the iceberg. We may be totally shocked if we explore carefully the numerous situations in our lives where we permit the clumsiness of the moment to hold our thoughts and our tongue hostage to embarrassment and fear.

Take, for instance, the ease with which we can make a false move near a traffic signal or light. While our maneuver is sometimes too minor to be a traffic violation, it may appear thoughtless and selfish to other drivers. Don't let that go without some kind of remedy. Don't leave the other driver(s) in a dangerous stew.

Yet, what to do? For one thing, it is relatively easy to read lips in such a situation, especially if one takes pains to form the words precisely. "I'm sorry!" is certainly easy to read. For another, a supplicating gesture with the palms up or out is unmistakably one of apology and goodwill. We should be very quick on the draw to communicate with both of these instruments.

At times we feel trapped the way I felt at a funeral some years ago. A classmate of mine was deeply offended when I did not recognize her and told her so. Then I saw to my distress that she thought that I was claiming that she looked too bad to be recognized. Actually, she had gained flattering weight and was looking so much better that I looked right past her.

I was so stunned that my tongue was tied, and I made the awful mistake of letting that entire occasion go by without correcting her mistaken interpretation of my confusion. Obviously, there is none of us who can afford to give in to embarrassment, anxiety and silence when someone dear misinterprets or misunderstands, or, conversely, when we realize that we ourselves are mistaken.

Take the pains and the time to learn in detail what your clumsy spots of embarrassment and silence are. There are so many of these spots in the average spouse relationship that they are a deadly mix in the fishbowl-microscope union of husband and wife. It is no accident that communication and facility of expression come so much more easily before this intimate union is vowed.

Silence is usually the worst enemy during our clumsy moments, unless, of course, what we have to say is obscene, profane, abusive or thoughtless. It is far better for us to risk poor communication than not to communicate at all, whether we are dealing with a spouse, a child, a parent, a sibling, a relative, a friend, an in-law, a fellow church member of the church minister.

Dupont warning system encounters small snags

BY TRACI BONNEY

Dupont officials would like to say their early warning system is humming along.

However, delays with the installation of warning signs and problems with radio signal reception are keeping the system from functioning at full capacity.

Gary Ruff, senior supervisor for safety, health and environment, said he doesn't know why the signs, which will be put on Kiln-DeLisle Road and will consist of lights and a warning for motorists to leave the area when the lights are flashing, are not ready.

"The power is run out to where the signs will be, but we don't have them yet to install."

As for the radios, Ruff said the problem lies with the frequency the chemical plant currently broadcasts messages on to Dupont's near neighbors. Some of the radio monitors on the fringes of "Zone 1", an area covering approximately a one-mile radius from the plant's processing center, either don't receive the signal or receive a distorted version of it, he said.

He explained that Dupont has authorization to switch to a more powerful frequency, but does not yet have the proper crystals for the radio monitors. Those crystals, which will enable the monitors to pick up the new frequency, are expected to arrive within the next month, if not sooner.

"We expect to have everything smoothed out in the next couple of weeks," Ruff commented.

The early warning system was developed by Dupont officials and some of the plant's near neighbors in response to concern over two chemical releases earlier this year. Both releases were of titanium tetrachloride, a chemical which forms a dense white cloud when it comes into contact with moisture.

Titanium tetrachloride, also known as "tickle" for its chemical composition (TiCl<sub>4</sub>), is a whitening agent used in many household and personal products, including deodorant and toothpaste. In cloud form, it is a strong respiratory irritant with acute (short term) effects.

A brochure given by Dupont officials to plant neighbors states, in describing the properties and effects of "tickle", that the chemical is heavier than air, so low-lying areas should be avoided. The brochure also cautions, "If you can see it (the 'tickle' cloud), stay out of it."

The early warning system is designed to let Dupont neighbors know when a release occurs of either "tickle" or chlorine gas (seen as a yellow-green cloud), and will instruct them as to whether they should evacuate or simply go indoors and close up their houses.

1990 state census deadline extended

The U.S. Census Bureau office in Jackson has extended the deadline to September 28 for Mississippians to be counted.

September 15 was the original deadline for Mississippians to be counted via toll-free telephone calls or by filling out "Were You Counted?" forms.

"I am very pleased that the Census Bureau in Jackson has decided to extend the deadline," Secretary of State Dick Molpus said.

He said the extension is the result of two things: the large number of challenges to the Census Bureau by Mississippi towns and counties earlier this week; and the significant numbers of Mississippians who have contacted the Census Bureau to be counted by using the "Were You Counted?" forms or the toll-free number.

Until September 28, Mississippians who haven't been counted can call 1-800-898-0728.

"If you haven't been counted, please do so because it is very important to your future and this state's future," Molpus said.

Gov. Ray Mabus and other officials recently voiced concern that a census undercount could cost Mississippi a congressional seat and millions of federal dollars.

Molpus expressed appreciation to the Jackson Census Office for its cooperation during the push to get more residents counted.

He also praised elected officials throughout the state, especially in towns and counties, for their efforts to hastily re-check preliminary census counts. As of late Monday, officials from some 154 Mississippi towns and 29 counties said they were challenging the preliminary population reports from the Census Bureau.

Cleaning

involved in this cleanup, in addition to the amount of debris collected," Cuevas said.

Attempts will be made this year to separate recyclable trash from debris with the assistance of the Gulf Coast Recycling Center, a non-profit organization.

Dianne Hunt, state marine debris coordinator, said Cat Island, which is privately owned, will be excluded from this year's cleanup.

The barrier islands of Horn, Ship, Petit Bois, Round and Deer will also be cleaned under the Adopt-A-Beach program along the mainlands of Hancock, Harrison and Hancock counties.

Cuevas said, "Since several Hancock boaters had been involved in the Cat Island cleanups in previous years, we hope these volunteers will return to pick up along the banks of the river and bayous in the area."

In Hancock, the area for cleanup will be the beach and beach road from the mouth of the Jourdan River to the mouth of Bayou Cadet.

Recyclables will be placed in clear plastic bags and debris in white plastic bags, which will be provided at the registration points.

Waste Management Inc. will have two dumpsters located at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club—one for debris and the other recyclables. In addition, they will collect bags as volunteers place them on the water side of Beach Boulevard.

Each group of two volunteers is urged to fill out a data card on the first bag of debris collected and not separate recyclables on this one bag only.

The data card will be used by the Center for Marine Conservation, which plans to get tough this year on offensive sources of marine debris.

Hunt stated, "Your cooperation and serious consideration of completion of the data card is one of the most important aspects of our cleanup."

Safety is being stressed to all volunteers. All children should be accompanied by a parent or adult.

Volunteers are urged to wear shoes and gloves, shade themselves, and watch out for snakes and broken bottles. "You should watch your step, keep your distance from beached drums, avoid heavy lifting and not handle beached animals or dead fish," suggests published guidelines.

Recyclables include all colors of glass, aluminum cans, clear translucent milk containers, water bottles and jugs, plastic fishing lines, all plastic with HDPE on bottom of container, "P.E.T." bottles, and plastic oil containers.

Volunteers in Hancock will be given a slip of paper for a free hot dog and coke, beginning at 11 a.m. at the head of the Garfield Ladner Memorial pier. Ray Kidd is in charge of the refreshments to be vendored from a "Coke Wagon."

Data cards may be turned in at registration stands or at the party.

A Trash Bashers-Beach Cleanup Volunteer Party is also planned for everyone between 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday afternoon at Point Cadet next to the Marine Education Center in Biloxi.

There will be free food, soft drinks and live music.

Groups can pre-register by calling the chamber at 467-9048 or Ellis Cuevas at 467-5473.

Cuevas suggested naming the building after the late Circuit Court Judge and Supreme Court Justice J. Ruble Griffin, who also served as attorney for the board of supervisors.

The board approved low bids for one hydraulic gate operator for the Hancock County Justice Facility, and for caution lights to be installed at Rocky Hill-Dedaux and Blue Meadow Road.

Payment was approved for various services, including work completed to date on the multipurpose complex, payroll for September 1-15, and payroll for commissioners.

The board recessed until September 28.

As a non-profit corporation, which makes no income from the running of the apartment complex, Notre Dame de la Mer is allowed by law to operate the facility.

Based on that information, Murtagh asked the board to grant the complex tax-exempt status. The board approved his request.

Murtagh did not say what his personal feelings were on the matter. He simply said, "It's my job to protect all the taxpayers. I have to go according to the law."

Reverend George Murphy,

one of the incorporators involved in the dispute over the complex's status, could not be reached for comment.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

There still may be some residents of the area who have not as yet been counted by the 1990 Census and Mississippi's deadline has been extended until Sept. 28.

If you have not as yet filled out a census report, I suggest you call the toll free number of 1-800-898-0728.

It is very important that everyone is counted because the number of persons residing in the state, county and municipality has a lot to do with many funds received.

If you haven't as yet, call the toll free number and be counted.

The United Way of Hancock County will officially kick off its 1990 campaign on Thursday with a dutch-treat breakfast at the Diamondhead Country Club.

The goal this year is $110,000, and it is hoped that it is reached and even exceeded.

Bay resident Tim Ryan is the campaign chairman and he and his cabinet have been working very hard getting things organized.

The United Way touches the lives of so many residents of our county as the 23 agencies cover a wide age range of our citizens.

Hancock's United Way is now in its 26th year and continues to add agencies as funds become available.

The only way the United Way can be a success is with the support of all residents.

I hope that you will help the United Way so that it can continue to serve the many needs of our community. Thank you!

This is a reminder about the Hancock County Clean the Beach day scheduled for next Saturday.

The committee has been busy organizing and making preparations for another successful cleanup.

Several groups have already contacted us, and there is still 'room' for more groups or individuals.

Saturday's cleanup will be nationwide with some 25 states participating this year in beach cleanup.

I feel it is really an honor for Hancock County to participate as our county was among the first to try such a venture.

Registrations will be from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. on Saturday at the Ulman Avenue pier, Bay St. Louis; Garfield Ladner pier, Waveland; and Lakeshore Road and Beach Boulevard, Clermont-Lakeshore.

For further information call the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce at 467-9048 or myself at 467-5473.

Infant mortality rate drops in Mississippi

More healthy babies are being born every year in Mississippi.

Some recent statistics released by the Mississippi Department of Health show that our state's infant mortality rate has dropped to an all-time low this century.

In just one year, Mississippi's infant mortality rate plunged nearly 6 percent, which means that we are now within striking distance of the national goal of less than nine deaths per 1,000 live births.

Why are we seeing such dramatic increases in healthy babies born in Mississippi?

Part of the reason for these major successes is because of our commitment to better health care for expectant mothers.

Another important factor in our efforts to save young lives in Mississippi is our recent expansion of Medicaid.

In 1989, I signed into law the largest single increase for Medicaid in Mississippi's history. This measure, which brought a record $122 million into the state's Medicaid system, extends medical help to thousands of children up to the age of five.

The Medicaid expansion also affects tens of thousands of additional Mississippians who have traditionally been left out of our health care system.

We have seen, in just one year, almost 40,000 more Mississippians being included in our state's health care system. That is something that all of us can be proud of.

By expanding care to women in need, and to their babies, we have given children in the dawn of life new hope, and the recent statistics appear to bear that fact out.

We cannot stop now in our efforts to provide top notch health care for our citizens. But judging by the recent statistics, Mississippi is well on the way to making our state healthier for our people and most importantly, for our children.

If you know of a mother-to-be in need of medical care, or if you know someone who has recently given birth, please make sure that they are aware that they can get help.

To find out about eligibility, it's as easy as calling the Division of Medicaid's toll free number: 1-800-421-2408. That phone call could be one of the most important calls you ever make. It may not only be important for you, it may also be important to your child.

We are making the commitment to invest in the young people of Mississippi. By doing so, we see the fruits of that investment written on the faces of healthy children and healthy adults—everyone of them more likely to lead fulfilling lives.

And because of that commitment, fewer babies are dying at the very dawn of life in part because of Medicaid.

Our goal is to continue to see a steady drop in Mississippi's infant mortality rate, and by doing our part, that goal is quickly becoming a strong and healthy reality.

Mississippi is having an emergency.

Can we count on you to help?

1-800-898-0728

The deadline has been extended. You still have time to be counted.

Be counted by the Census before Sept. 28!

Do your state and yourself a big favor.

Mississippi small businesses on the move

In a perfect world a small business would succeed if its roots were nourished by patience and planning. Unfortunately things happen which can swamp the entrepreneur in uncontrolled costs and problems. Just knowing when to expand, carefully managing growing pains, and planning for those unexpected setbacks can help.

Whatever the milestone is for the Mississippi small businessman, the Small Business Administration (SBA) is there to offer assistance. SBA provides guaranteed, direct, or immediate participation loans to small business concerns to help them finance plant construction, conversion, expansion or acquire equipment, facilities, machinery, supplies or material.

The victims of floods, riots, civil disorders and other catastrophes are provided with loans to aid them in repairing, rebuilding or replacing their homes, businesses or other property. Loans are provided to assist small businesses that have sustained substantial economic injury resulting from natural disasters.

This assistance is important because to a far greater extent than most Americans realize, the economy's vitality depends on the fortunes of tiny shops and restaurants, neighborhood services and factories. Small businesses—defined as those with fewer than 100 workers—now employ nearly 60 percent of the work force and are expected to generate half of all new jobs between now and the year 2000.

Some 1.2 million small firms have opened their doors over the past six years of economic growth, and 1990 can expect to see an additional 200,000.

The impact of small businesses on Mississippi's economy makes it imperative that the SBA stand ready to assist with their everyday needs and times of downturns.

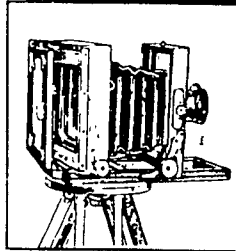

I was very pleased to learn in August that the SBA's Regional Office in Gulfport has more than doubled its loan approvals for South Mississippi business over 1989. In 1989 the Gulfport office approved 34 loan totaling less than $5 million.

To date this year it has approved 84 new loans in South Mississippi totaling more than $11 million. What's encouraging to me is that all South Mississippi counties shared in the assistance with 11 loans going to Forrest County businesses; five to George; two to Greene; seven to Hancock; 20 to Harrison; 18 to Jackson; 10 to Jones; seven to Pearl River; and one each to Lamar, Perry, Stone and Wayne counties.

Statewide the SBA so far in 1990 has approved 350 loans totaling almost $34 million.

These statistics tell me that Mississippi small businesses are working hard—usually 16-hour days, seven days a week. The Small Business Administration offices in Jackson and Gulfport are there to help them in good times as well as down times. That's important because Mississippi needs the economic stimulation of our small businesses all year round.

If you are a small businessman trying to get started, wanting to expand, or needing help as a result of an economic disaster, I encourage you to visit Mississippi's SBA regional offices in Gulfport and Jackson or contact my offices in Mississippi or Washington for more information.

Hawks edge PRC 29-27

Special to the Echo
BY BELINDA LILES

The Hancock Hawks made it 3-0 for the season Friday night in high school football after defeating the Poplarville Hornets 29-27 in an exciting, suspense-filled game.

"The boys played a heck of a game," Hawk Coach Irvin Favre said moments after play ended. "We had some injuries in the second half but we came out well. They 'sucked it up' and had the Hawk spirit."

"We did nothing fancy," Favre added.

He also commented, "We have to give Poplarville credit for having an excellent team."

Neither the Hawks nor the Hornets dominated the game as the lead changed several times. The close game was decided with only seconds left on the clock.

The ball was exchanged several times as, two plays after Hancock kicked off to the Hornets, Hawk defensive lineman David King recovered a fumble on the Poplarville 21-yard line. After another two plays the Hawks fumbled the ball and the Hornets recovered on the 25.

Poplarville started a drive that consumed most of the first quarter. However, their drive came to a dead end on the Hawks' 5-yard line when Hornet quarterback Dominic Jordan attempted a pass to Kirk Myrick in the end zone. Hawk defensive back Radley Ladner snagged the pass and was brought down on the 1-yard line.

Bobby Doyle carried the ball to the 5 on the next play. With 29 seconds to go in the first quarter, Goff found a hole and flew past the Hornets for a 95-yard touchdown.

The PAT was no good. The Hawks lead 6-0.

The Hornets wasted no time in scoring. It took eight plays to move the ball down to the Hawks' 32-yard line. At this time quarterback Jordan found running back Maurice Hammond open and hit him for a touchdown pass.

The PAT was good, giving the Hornets a 7-6 lead.

The Hornets regained a quick possession when defensive back Brent Sones picked off a Hawk pass intended for Hawk receiver Bobby Doyle and brought it down to the 36-yard line. Three plays later, quarterback Jordan hit Hammond with a touchdown strike that covered 20 yards.

The PAT was no good. The Hornets widened their lead to 13-6 with 7:12 remaining in the second quarter.

The Hawks regained the lead after two plays following the Hornets kickoff. The ball rested on the Poplarville 43 when quarterback Regan Ladner handed off to running back Jeron Vince, who scrambled the Hornets defense and ran the ball in for his first touchdown of the night.

The Hawks completed a 2-point conversion when Ladner connected with Vince for a 2-yard pass. The Hawks took back the lead at 14-13.

The Hornets began another long drive consisting of 14 plays. The Hawks were kept off balance as Poplarville mixed the plays with running and passing efforts. With 1:10 left in the half and the ball resting on the 1, Jordan called a quarterback sneak and carried it in for the final touchdown of the half.

The Hornets tried a 2-point conversion which failed. However, they finished the half with a 19-14 lead.

Hancock received the second half kickoff and drove the ball to the Poplarville 44 yard line where they were held and were forced to punt for the first time of the night.

The Hornets received the ball on their own 12-yard line. Two plays later Hawk defensive back Jeff Favre intercepted a pass, giving the Hawks possession on the 40-yard line. After Goff and Vince took turns running the ball in and out of the Hornets' defense, Vince capped off the drive with a 6-yard TD run.

The Hawks' attempt at a 2-point conversion was made good when Ladner found split end Dennis Devilliss open in the end zone. This gave Hancock a 22-19 lead, which was the score at the end of the third quarter.

The fourth quarter found Poplarville on Hancock's 14-yard line when Hornet QB Jordan hit split end Curtis Rain for another touchdown pass.

A 2-point conversion gave the Hornets a 27-22 lead.

The Hawks received the kickoff from the Hornets, ran five plays, and had to punt. Goff, standing on his own 37, nailed the ball and Richard Simmons downed it on the 3-yard line.

Poplarville took over the ball with 7:28 left in the game. They ran several plays, pushing the ball down to the Hawks' 25.

The drive came to a halt when pressure from Hancock's defensive line caused the Hornets to fumble the ball. Hawk Dennis Malley recovered the ball on the 35-yard line, giving the Hawks possession.

With 3:00 minutes remaining in the game Hancock started their final quest for victory. Goff carried the ball several times, bringing the ball down to the Hornets' 25 with 1:56 left on the clock and the Hawks trailing by 5 points.

The fans were on their feet as the remaining seconds ticked off the clock.

Goff ran the ball to the 14 and then down to the 10. With 1:02 left on the clock and second-and-six to go, Goff powered the ball to the 5, making it third-and-one. He then pushed it down to the 3-yard line.

It was now first-and-ten with 34 seconds to go. Goff got a yard closer to the goal on the next play, making it second-and-two.

The next play sent Goff diving through the line and stretching across the goal for the Hawks' victory touchdown with 30 seconds remaining.

The PAT, made by Gabe Lumpkin, was good, making the final score 29-27.

"The Hawks started out with a bad effort so we had to make a few adjustments at the half," stated assistant Coach Andy Perniciaro. "The 'brotherhood of pain' defense came out and took over. We came out like we were supposed to and we won when we had to."

Hancock will host Lawrence County next week. It will be the first encounter between the two teams.

Hornets sting Rocks 6-2

Special to the Echo
BY TOM ACKERMAN

For the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws, the pressure is off—and the pressure is on.

The pressure to remain undefeated was relieved Friday by the East Central Hornets, who upset the Rocks 6-2.

But the pressure to regroup and fill in the offensive gaps remains as strong as ever, especially since their first district matchup is only a week away at Long Beach.

As every game so far this season for the Rocks has been, Friday's contest was a battle of the defensive lines.

Holding the Hornets, a physically superior team, to only 6 was no easy task. Key stops were logged by Mike Davidge, Ken Booker, Galen Smith, Sal Palmisano, Scott Petersen, Mike Lee, Paul Johnson and Kerry Wittmann.

Offensively, the Rocks had several opportunities, but no "breaks."

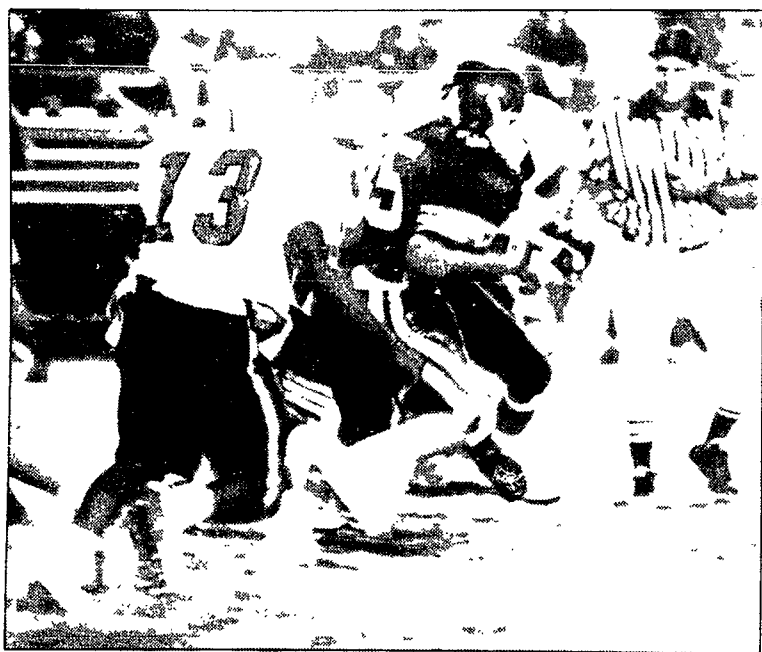

With 7:27 on the second quarter clock, the Hornets drove from the Stanislaus 40 on four plays and two first downs for the only touchdown of the game. The extra point attempt was blocked by Palmisano.

On another key defensive play, a faked punt attempt by the Hornets to gain a first down was broken up by Galen Smith, giving the Rocks the ball at their own 30 and setting up the only real opportunity SSC saw all evening.

Moving the ball to the 20 on three downs, the Rocks set up to attempt a field goal by Bubba O'Brien. A bad snap created decision time for holder Mickey Quinlan who saw daylight and ran to the 10 for the first down.

The opportunity ended when the Rocks couldn't get a break. A fumble on the 3-yard line gave the Hornets possession.

Bay High loses to PRC

Bay High's Tigers were gunned down by an explosive Pearl River Central Blue Devils 34-12 Friday night in high school football action.

Blue Devil quarterback Bob Thaxton threw five touchdown passes, four of them to his favorite receiver, Greg Lewis.

Tiger quarterback Charlie Mitchell teamed up with Mike Scharp on a pass to score Bay High's other TD.

The Tiger defense had a hard time throughout the game trying to control Thaxton's passing attack.

The young Bay High squad is now 0-3 for the season and 0-1 in district play.

Bay High next week will play host to Vancleave's Bulldogs in Tiger stadium with a 7:30 p.m. kick-off.

Pirates sink Sumrall 38-0

Special to the Echo
BY PATRICK MCKEE

The Pass Christian Pirates outplayed the Sumrall Bobcats with an outstanding defense and an offense that really caught fire in the second half. When the smoke cleared the score stood at 38-0.

"I'm real pleased with the win," Coach Joseph Brown said of his Pirates. "The defense was a super plus, and the offense really got things going."

The Pirates outrushed the Bobcats 278 yards to 49 yards. The Pass Christian team also recorded 95 yards in passing to the Bobcats' 21.

In addition, the Pirates achieved 12 first downs while Sumrall received only three.

The first quarter gave no indication that the game would result in a lot of scoring. Neither team threatened to cross the end zone.

In the second quarter, however, Jerome Malley streaked across the goal line to give the Pirates 6 points. The PAT was blocked by the Bobcats.

Quarterback Tracey Watts, who was 4-10 passing for 95 yards, threw a 36-yard touchdown pass to Ryan "Boo" Jenkins with a minute left in the first half. The Pirates attempted a 2-point conversion, but the Bobcats refused to let them have it.

At halftime, Brown and his assistant coaches, Glenn Williams and Stan Massengale, talked to the team about correcting the miscues.

"We told them that they had to hold onto the ball," Brown said. "We have a good line of communication with the kids. They thought about what was going on, and what they had to do."

In the second half it was obvious the team had listened. Winfred Rials charged across the goal line in the early part of the third quarter. Charlie Lizana also stormed the end zone for a touchdown with 2:56 left in the third quarter. Both 2-point conversion attempts failed. The score now stood at 24-0.

By this time the Bobcats had replaced quarterback Doug Russell with Valdez Gaddis, but they were unable to make things work for them, chiefly due to the Pirates' defense.

In the fourth quarter, the Pirates continued to run the ball for more points on the scoreboard. Harrison Glover, who took over for Watts as quarterback, handed off to Willie Earl Washington for an 8-yard touchdown run. Lizana kicked the extra point, making the score 31-0.

With 50 seconds left in the game, Tony Jacobs ran 68 yards for a TD in a spectacular finale to the game. Lizana again kicked successfully to make the final score 38-0.

While pleased with the total team effort, Brown made a point of praising his offensive line. Thad Williams, Delton Lizana, Donald Knight and Steve Dedeaux were commended for their "exceptional blocking."

Heldt, although disappointed with the game's outcome, complimented his team for their effort.

On the other hand, he admitted, "They can play better than that. We could have executed better."

Heldt did say he felt his linebackers played well. "They did the best they could."

Next week the Pirates play at home against the Mercy Cross Crusaders. Kickoff is at 7:30 p.m.

Bay Cove owner applies for dockside gambling permit

Advertising of a notice of intent to apply for a gaming license has this week been placed by Charles Lambert, vice president and chief executive officer of Lambert Land Co. Inc., a Mississippi corporation.

If successful in his bid, Lambert will be among the first granted a dockside gambling permit by the state. President of the group is Laurence L. Lambert of New Orleans.

Operators of Bay Cove Harbour, located at the west end of Felicite Street, north of Joe's Bayou, Lambert Land Co. has invested approximately $4.25 million in its 233-acre holding over the last 10 years.

"We purchased this property as a long-term investment and developed it with our own resources," the CEO said this week.

He added, "Once dockside gambling legislation was put in place, it became obvious that our facility is ideally suited for such an undertaking."

Bay Cove Harbour is situated on the western shore of the Bay of St. Louis near its confluence with the Jourdan River. The location, adjacent to the natural, deep water channel offers a safe harbor yet is able to accommodate deep water vessels.

Existing facilities at Bay Cove include both open and covered slips in its 15-acre marina, fuel dock, wet and dry storage, shoreside bathrooms and a central office.

Planned support services include construction of a French Provincial-influenced yacht club, overnight accommodations (hotel/motel) Mediterranean-style shopping village, including restaurants and boutiques, and professionally designed tennis courts and olympic-style pool. An equestrian center already operates on site.

Lambert amplified the suitability of the location for a gambling vessel, "The outside waters of the Bay of St. Louis are continually affected by southeast winds. As the area is subject to frequent squalls from that direction it becomes a lee shore and subject to the inherent nautical dangers. "Here we are a mooring site protected from storm and tidal surge," he explained.

The type of vessel envisioned by Lambert for Bay Cove would be 200 feet or more in length with a 40- to 44-foot beam and 4 to 6 feet draft.

Probably designed to resemble a river steamer of bygone years, the craft would possess an air-conditioned area of approximately 25,000 square feet on three or four decks, containing such facilities as a first-class restaurant, private dining rooms, oyster bar, entertainment bar and lounge and gaming areas.

In consideration for neighborhood requirements, Lambert outlined other proposed development.

"Our area of ownership permits us to look at a wide variety of developments," he said.

Auto repair for beginners offered as free seminar

A free workshop on cars and car care for those who have no previous experience will be Thursday, Sept. 20, 9:30 a.m. at Mississippi Power meeting room.

The program covers all the essentials, from how to lift the hood to how to talk to a mechanic.

Topics include: what to do if your car won't start, what to do if your car gets too hot, how to stop problems before they start;

Diagnosing your car's leaks and squeaks, how to choose a mechanic, and what to say to get the work you want done will also be covered.

Preregistration is suggested. Call 467-5456. Carl Guy, a local car repair shop owner, will assist in the program, sponsored by the Hancock County Extension Service.

The class is open to any interested individual.

Project to build family's home in Bay about to start

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The Project Community Together venture for the Dennis Farve family of Bay St. Louis, sponsored by the Concerned Citizens Organization of Hancock County, is well underway.

Geraldine Lang, organization president, reports the old family dwelling in Morgan Park Subdivision has been taken down in a controlled burn by the Bay St. Louis Fire Department.

The house was beyond repair, according to different organizations of the community and local officials, and the controlled burn was used as a training exercise by the firefighters.

The next step is to try and find a volunteer to remove the old foundations, Lang said.

Plans call for pouring a concrete slab for a concrete block construction of 40x28 feet. This is the approximate size of the old house in which the family of four resided.

Mr. Farve is up in age and needs constant care, one child needs care, and one child is still in high school.

The Farve family is currently residing in temporary quarters. "Commitments have been made by the Job Corps to help with the slab, plumbing and electricity," Lang stated.

Some contributions have been received for materials, yet much more is still needed, Lang said.

An account has been established at the Hancock Bank for persons wishing to make a cash contribution, and the number is 037037643.

Persons wanting to help with the construction or seek further information may call 467-7842, 467-9586 or 467-7140.

Assault, burglary arrests result from Saturday morning activity

BY TRACI BONNEY

The early morning hours Saturday brought some excitement for Hancock County Sheriff's Department officers, which resulted in three arrests, according to Investigator Delbert Seay.

In one incident, the sheriff's office received a call around midnight from the Quality Inn at Diamondhead that some suspicious-looking people were in a car behind the hotel.

Seay said officer Gene Boswell was dispatched to the scene, where he found two men in a car. When he asked for their identification, the two men attacked him.

Boswell managed to subdue and arrest the men, Seay said.

Arrested were Kyle Lee Hendrickson, 30, of Channelview, Texas, and Dennis Arceneaux, 28, of Longmont, Colorado. They are charged with aggravated assault and resisting arrest.

Seay added that the two are currently in the Hancock County jail awaiting an initial appearance in justice court.

In a separate incident, Robert White, 18, was arrested and charged with burglary.

Seay said the sheriff's department received a call between 2 and 3 a.m. Saturday that a burglary was in progress in Kiln. Officers dispatched to investigate found a trailer had been vandalized, and White was hiding under the bed in the trailer.

He is currently in the Hancock County jail awaiting an initial appearance in justice court.

The officers involved in the investigation, which is continuing, were Gene Boswell, Allen James and Albert Biehl.

American Legion
Post 77 Auxiliary

The September 4 meeting of American Legion Post 77 Auxiliary was called to order by president Mayola Rotherham.

Following the advancement of colors, chaplain Mary Caillier asked for prayers for the safety of men and women in the service in the Middle East.

Recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance was followed by the Preamble. Inclement weather caused the lights to dim and the meeting continued with power from an auxiliary generator.

Hancock County Fire Marshall Jay Marsh spoke on fire prevention and safety in the home.

The following events are planned by the auxiliary:

—A picnic will be held Sept. 12 for veterans from the Biloxi Veterans Administration in McCall Hall on the Post grounds;

—An early bird dance will be held Oct. 6;

—A fair is slated Oct. 10 at the Biloxi V.A. Auxiliary members are asked to attend and to assist.

—An Oktoberfest is slated Nov. 3. It is a family-oriented event with music, food and games for the children.

After the closing prayer, the colors were retired and refreshments were served.

Ringing bells mark
Constitution Week

Bells will sound across America and at American military installations around the world on Monday, Sept. 17 at 3 p.m. to commemorate the United States Constitution. It was on that date and at that time in 1787 that the document was signed.

The tolling of the bells marks the beginning of Constitution Week which runs until Sept. 23. Individuals and groups across the nation simultaneously ring bells, chimes and carillons.

Bells will be sounded on the public address system at the John C. Stennis Space Center where the event is sponsored by the Naval Oceanography Command.

Rear Admiral James E. Koehr, who heads the command, said, "I am honored to have the opportunity to support this ringing tribute to our Constitution. This brilliant document is the synthesis of a people's ethics, philosophy, and mechanics of government."

Millions of Americans participated in the first "Bells Across America" held in 1987, as part of the Constitution Bicentennial.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, chairman of the Bicentennial Commission, joined a group of children in Philadelphia and tolled a replica of the Liberty Bell which began the simultaneous ringing of "Bells Across America" and around the world. Since then it has emerged as an annual event.

For Mississippi fish, the top dog is a cat.

Nine out of every ten catfish eaten in the United States come from Mississippi. In 1989, our state produced 310 million pounds of the funny-looking fish with whiskers. Compare that to 100 million pounds of tuna in our whole country.

But these are not the river or saltwater catfish you hear about in old songs. These fish are raised on farms and they are fed special food that makes them taste light and clean, not fishy. The label reads, "pond raised."

Mississippi has 90,000 acres of ponds all over the state. There are so many farms near Belzoni that the town calls itself "The Catfish Capital of the World." In Belzoni and other communities, cotton and soybean fields have been turning into freshwater ponds to raise more of the tasty fish. Eating Mississippi catfish has become popular in New York, Los Angeles, even Paris, France.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

There are so many ways to lift vegetables from just-so to an interesting taste experience that I cannot understand why so many cooks keep on serving them the same old way all the time!

For example, let's take spinach. Must spinach always wear the inevitable sliced, hard-cooked egg hat, and must it weep into the other food, all watery and insipid? Not if you're a creative cook of sorts.

The first rule of cooking spinach is to cook it in as little water as possible, almost none at all, as it makes its own liquid quickly enough. And be sure to drain, drain, drain well! Here's:

SPINACH SUPREME

(Frozen, chopped spinach will do quite nicely for this dish, as there's no particular virtue in de-gritting fresh spinach, unless you're making a fresh spinach and mushroom salad, for instance.)

2 pkgs. (10 oz.) frozen, chopped spinach

Pepper, salt, minute bit of chopped garlic or pure as desired

2 pkgs. Philadelphia or other cream cheese

In just a bit of water, steam or simmer the spinach, sprinkling with pepper, salt and garlic as it cooks, and draining off excess liquid. When it's almost done, stir in the cream cheese, mashing and blending well into the spinach. If there's still surplus liquid, drain off or turn the fire up a bit to "solidify" the spinach.

If you want a "crusty" topping, place the mixture in a casserole dish, in a 350-degree oven for a few minutes until the crust forms. This is also good, when baked briefly in individual custard or timbale cups. (Six servings)

One of my favorite ways with spinach is:

SPINACH AND ARTICHOKE CASSEROLE

2 pkgs. (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach

2/3 stick butter

1 can artichoke hearts, drained and quartered

1 pint sour cream

1/2 cup Parmesan cheese

1/2 cup finely-chopped onion

Buttered bread crumbs

Cook the spinach and drain well. Sauté the onion in the butter, and mix all other ingredients together, stirring in the cheese last. Sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs, and bake in a 350-degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes. (Six servings)

When remodeling your bathroom, consider safety as well as beauty

The bathroom is one of the most remodeled rooms in the American home.

Yet, bathroom accidents are the eighth largest cause of home accidents related to furniture and fixtures.

One way to minimize the possibility of an accident in the bathroom is to pay careful attention to the safety considerations incorporated into the design and/or construction of the room.

In general, bathroom accidents result from any one or a combination of factors such as hot water, slippery surfaces, collision with protruding accessories, lack or failure of grab bars, location of water fixture controls, location of electrical receptacles and switches and use of non-safety glass in or around the bathtub/shower area.

According to National Kitchen & Bath Association director of educational services, Ellen M. Cheever, CKD, CBD, careful attention to the planning of this room can eliminate the possibility of potential hazards.

In and around the bathtub is one area where safety should be of primary concern, according to Cheever.

"To avoid common hazards in the bathtub area, the bathtub should have a nearly flat bottom and tub, and shower stalls should have a slip-resistant surface," says Cheever.

Cheever also specifies that all glass enclosures should incorporate safety glazing, non-locking latches and doors hinged to swing away from source of water.

Also, sliding shower doors above the bathtub are not recommended in homes with child bathers.

Grab bars are an important component of a safe bathroom plan. At least two grab bars are recommended over the bathtub—one to aid in entering or exiting the bathtub; the other grab bar should be installed near the outside edge of the tub or on the wall which houses the controls.

For maximum safety, a grab bar should also be incorporated just forward and above the water closet seat.

Fixtures can be hard to use if not properly placed. A good rule to remember in the placement of shower and bathtub valves is that they should be accessible to an adult while outside the shower or bathtub.

Planning is key to kitchen remodeling

With kitchen remodeling topping the list of home remodeling projects that yield the greatest return on investment, many American families are replacing tired, worn cabinets and appliances as well as inefficient, uninspiring floor plans. In fact, the National Kitchen sink, range and refrigerator. No one leg of the triangle should be less than four feet or more than seven feet, and the distance between all three points should total no less than 12 feet and no more than 26 feet. Additionally, island/peninsula counters and kitchen traffic patterns should not interrupt the triangle by more than 12 inches.

Counter space requirements

In order to allow adequate space for the comfortable and safe execution of kitchen activities, including meal preparation and clean-up, careful attention must be paid to the inclusion of adequate counter space.

At least 18 inches of counter space should be planned on one side of the sink, and 24 inches on the other.

There should be 12 inches on both sides of the cooktop; at least 15 inches on one side of a built-in oven (or on an island counter no more than 48 inches away).

And at least 15 inches of counter should be included on the opening side of a refrigerator (or on an island counter no more than 48 inches away).

Appliance space and planning requirements

A kitchen wouldn't be a kitchen without appliances. And their proper placement is a key element of the plan.

The dishwasher should be positioned close to the sink, and sufficient space should be planned between the dishwasher and adjacent counter, & Bath Association (NKBA) estimates that about 5.5 million kitchen projects were undergone in 1989 alone.

"The key of executing a kitchen remodeling that will return anywhere from 85 percent of 125 percent of the homeowner's investment is proper planning," says NKBA executive director Francis Jones, CKD, CBD. "There's a lot more to designing a kitchen than just hanging boxes on a wall."

"There are a number of key design and layout principles which must be closely followed, in order for the finished kitchen to be safe, functional and beautiful."

Accepted planning requirements for a safe, functional kitchen include the following:

General layout requirements

At least one work triangle must be in place. A work triangle is the area formed by the imaginary connection of the

Tips on decorating small spaces

As the average American home gets smaller—due, in part, to the rising costs of construction—many of us must learn to live in more modest spaces: living rooms with dining "alcoves" (in lieu of the full-fledged dining room), unexceptional bedrooms and studies, and standard, compact baths that excite little interest.

What do our most prominent interior designers have to say about decorating small spaces and what tricks of the trade do they employ to make modest rooms appear larger?

Here are some of their helpful suggestions:

"First," notes Noel Jeffrey, president of his own design firm in New York, "you have to consider color. Using a light shade—a pale salmon, for example, or a creamy white—is a spatial trick that adds size," he explains.

"I also think light colors make you less aware of those low ceilings that are the norm in today's housing market."

But darker shades, he insists, are also acceptable. "You may want to create a warmer, cozier space—which can easily be achieved with a darker hue."

2 If the color of the walls is crucial to achieving a more livable space, then what you choose for the floor is equally important.

Notes Sally Sirkin Lewis, who designs textiles and furniture for J. Robert Scott: "When you're deciding what to do with the floor, stay with one solid color, particularly in one small space."

Solid-color carpeting that extends to the perimeters of a room makes it appear larger, she explains, "and several small scatter rugs just won't do the trick."

Decorating

3. Joanne DePalma, a partner in the New York-based design firm of Bradshaw-DePalma, advises her clients to choose sisal, which can easily be removed to clean the underlying surface.

"An inexpensive option is to buy a remnant and have a carpet installer cut it to size. Simply lay it down unbound, gluing the edges to prevent it from unraveling—or if you prefer, have it bound."

4. To give a room height, Jeffrey suggests using many "vertical" elements—picture frames, mirrors and curtains.

"You may want to consider adding a large piece of furniture—a bookcase, for example—which will bring your eye up to the ceiling and give you a sense of space or height," notes Ron Bradshaw, a partner in the firm of Bradshaw-DePalma. "The higher a room appears, the more luxurious it seems."

5. Another decorating rule of thumb when tackling smaller spaces is to add interesting pieces of artwork.

"When you hang something that has depth, such as a mural or painting," explains David A. Harte, owner of the Julian Graham-White antiques shop in New York, "you're suddenly fooled into thinking that you're looking into something. In effect, you're creating another dimension, a larger space."

6. DePalma advises using the same fabric for draperies and valances. "The valance goes at the top of the window frame, and the draperies should fall underneath and go all the way down to the floor," she says.

"Using the same print or solid for both gives the room a less busy, somewhat more tailored look—ideal for smaller spaces, I think."

7. Reduce clutter. "I don't think you should have lots of clutter," comments Lewis. "In other words, don't think small; think streamlined." A sparsely furnished room of simple shades and muted colors will make even the bleakest space seem luxurious, she believes.

8. Other design wizardry includes the way individual furniture pieces are placed in a room. A pair of large armless chairs or loveseats, for example, placed across the width of a space, expands it horizontally. "Choose furniture for its simplicity and grace," Lewis advises.

"And cover all the furnishings in muted tones—a sand-colored fabric, for example, would be perfect."

9. "It also helps to incorporate functional furniture into your overall design scheme," adds Jeffrey.

"Armoires that can hold the television and stereo equipment help a great deal. If you can double up, so to speak, you'll have far fewer pieces in the room—something I think, that's desirable."

10. Low screens can also be used to divide a work or desk space from the rest of the room.

Do-it-yourselfers can create exciting interiors

A little ingenuity goes a long way with creative do-it-yourself projects that are guaranteed to brighten a home's interior.

In a new booklet called Interiors, Wamsutta/Pacific Home Products gives six simple secrets for "Creating a Total Environment With Sheets."

"Sheets offer a wide range of fashion colors and patterns and are no longer limited to just the bedroom," says Deidre McGovern, public relations manager for Wamsutta/Pacific. "Available in wider widths than fabric-by-the-yard, linens are ideal for making decorative accessories for every room in the house. They're economical, durable, versatile and easy to handle."

Interiors gives six design ideas for do-it-yourselfers to make, some in under an hour and without sewing. Each project includes the approximate time it takes to make, materials needed, and simple step-by-step instructions with illustrations.

One of the most popular projects is the romantic swagged draperies that can be made in an hour without sewing. The easy-to-follow instructions give 11 steps for creating cascading swags and loops with just four queen-size sheets and four rubberbands.

Do-it-yourselfers can brighten an old lamp with a drawstring lampshade made from a pair of standard pillowcases. A bordered hem style creates a dramatic effect.

Or, add ties to Wamsutta's round decorative pillows to make a ruffled chair cushion, perfect for ice cream parlor style chairs, kitchen stools or vanity table seating.

Durable, easy-to-laundry bed linens are the perfect fabric for making a ruffled table round to dress up a bedroom night stand or small dining table.

The secret to this elegant tablecloth is the generously gathered bias cut ruffle. Coordinating with ready-made bedding and window fashions, the elegant table round creates a high fashion look for the bedroom.

Bed linens bring color and fashion to the bathroom with a no-sew shower curtain made from two queen-size flat sheets and decorative ribbon. Coordinate the curtain with a bath towel caddy made from one twin flat sheet. Mounted on the wall, the decorative holder can store five standard size bath towels.

"Sheets are ideal for do-it-yourself projects to brighten any room. They are durable and able to withstand repeated washings. Wamsutta's quality sheets also have a wonderful hand and drape well, enhancing the look and feel of these design accessories," McGovern points out.

"Decorative details such as contrasting borders, embroidered trims, satin piping and scalloped hems help produce high fashion, professional results."

Checklist for wood furniture buyers

Before purchasing wood furniture, consider these helpful tips from the Furniture Industry Consumer Advisory Panel.

Since most wood furniture has no written guarantee, be sure to give it the critical eye before you purchase.

Check for:

- Uniform finish. Does the finish look the same all over?

- Careful gluing. Good glues are so strong they can outlast wood. In fine furniture, excess glue has been wiped off.

- Corner blocks (triangular pieces of wood screwed and glued to support and reinforce the corners of the frame).

- Joints that fit tightly
- A leveling mechanism to adjust the furniture to the evenness of your floor.

- Drawers that open and close effortlessly

- Drawers that are smooth inside.

A fall checklist for homeowners

The cool breezes of autumn may bring relief from the summer heat, but for homeowners they also bring a reminder that it's time to start fixing, cleaning, and preparing for winter weather.

2. Check the flashing around roof stacks, vents, skylights, and chimneys as possible sources of leakage. Repair as needed.

3. Look for leaking, misaligned, or damaged gutters, downspouts, hangers, gutter guards and strainers. Clean the gutters after all the leaves have fallen.

4. Cut back tree limbs growing on or over the roof, as well as shrubbery growing against the house, to prevent damage to the home's exterior.

5. Check all doors and windows for proper caulking and weatherstripping. Remove any worn or decayed materials and apply new material as needed.

6. Drain exterior water lines, hose bibbs, sprinklers and pool equipment. (Do not leave hose connected to bibb.)

7. Have the heating system serviced annually (fall is the best time), and bleed the radiators of air in circulating hot water systems.

For a brochure on these and other seasonal home maintenance routines, send $1 and a self-addressed, stamped, business-size envelope to: "Maintaining Your Home," ASHI-Dept. MS, 3299 K Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20007.

If certain tasks are left undone, say the home and building inspectors from the American Society of Home Inspectors, then a home becomes increasingly vulnerable to air, moisture and water penetration, which may eventually cause structural problems.

Whether done by the homeowner or a professional service contractor, preventive maintenance will prolong the efficiency and lifespan of a home's many components.

In addition to any obvious repairs that might be necessary, ASHI recommends that in order to prevent minor problems from turning into major expenses, homeowners should tend to the following each fall:

1. Inspect the roof, using binoculars, for damaged, loose, or missing shingles. Repair as needed.

Inexpensive ideas for redecorating bathroom

It's the first room you enter every day and the last one you leave at night. You should feel as comfortable in your bathroom as you do in your favorite sweater, and the best ideas do not have to involve expensive remodeling.

Turning the tablecloths: Turn an old lace or crochet tablecloth into a shower curtain by hooking the holes in the weave right onto the shower curtain hooks.

Hang a clear plastic liner on the inside. This provides a see-through effect that makes the bathroom look more open and airy.

You can do the same thing for a window curtain. Cut the tablecloth to the right size and thread the holes in the weave through a suction rod.

Snap the rod right into place in the window. There is no need to hem or sew.

Accessorizing: Accessories are instant room changers when chosen properly. When accessorizing a bathroom, look for items that won't break if dropped.

Look for colorful items and, if possible, start a collection:

By collecting a group of similar items, accessories will look like they belong there. A disorganized hodge-podge of individual items just looks messy.

Bordering on beautiful: Buy a wall stenciling kit (or cut out your own stencil) and paint a border along the ceiling or along the edge of your tile.

You can also purchase a few yards of border wallpaper and glue it on around the room. This offers a very polished, meticulously designed effect.

Atmosphere: Use fragrance to add a new dimension to the look and ambiance of your bathroom.

Vanity fair: If you have a vanity shelf in your bathroom, you can make a designer stool/storage unit to fit under it.

Find a box sturdy enough to sit on and cover it with wallpaper or a stencil design to match your walls.

Attach casters to the bottom and use it to sit upon at your vanity counter as well as to store guest towels or other supplies in.

Racking up savings: Hang towels on an antique wooden coat rack. If you don't already have one, you can find them at flea markets for under $30. Use a free standing rack or one that's wall mounted.

Hang it up: Hang an office letter rack on the wall and lay guest towels in it. The towels will hang off the ends of the rack. You can also hang a wall-mounted office magazine rack for magazines and books.

Waste not: Instead of a plastic wastepaper basket, use a decorative umbrella stand or planter for a more interesting look.

Bath

Ideally, the fixtures should not be placed directly below a shower head.

Also essential in the safety of a bathroom plan, according to Cheever, is the use of a ground fault circuit interrupter (GFCI).

The GFCI monitors the current flow in a hot wire and the grounded neutral wire. The GFCI senses faults or changes in the electrical wiring, thereby preventing electrical shock in the bathroom.

In addition, all electrical receptacles, switches, timers or other electrical controlling devices should be installed as far away from the water sources as possible.

Storage spaces in the bathroom can be potentially dangerous if they house medications or cleaning equipment and utensils.

Medicine and cleaning equipment storage areas should be placed out of children's reach, preferably in locked cabinetry.

When planning for the remodeling or new construction of a bathroom, the National Kitchen & Bath Association recommends enlisting the assistance of an NKBA professional.

These professionals can supervise installations and coordinate with subcontractors to make sure safety requirements meet local codes and guidelines.

"Certified Bathroom Designers and other bath specialists are making safety a top priority," Cheever says.

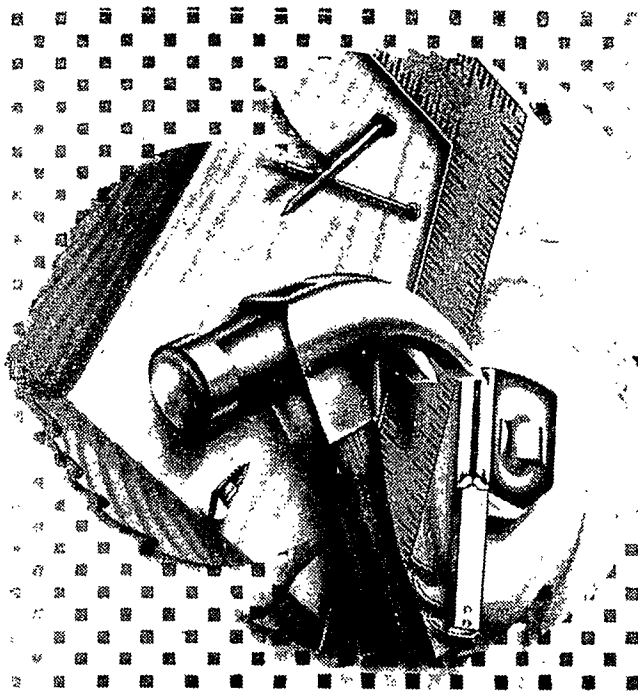

"They have the expertise to create floorplans and choose products that contribute to a safe environment—information the average homeowner or do-it-yourselfer may not have."

Bath safety checklist

- Non-slip flooring used throughout the space
- Electrical switches placed away from tub or shower
- Grab-bars at shower/tub entrance and inside enclosure
- Tub and/or shower easy to enter and exit
- Tub platform steps at least 10 inches deep and no more than 7 inches high

- Tempered glass used for shower doors
- Shower door swings into bathroom, not shower enclosure
- Bench/seat included in shower enclosure
- Pressure balanced water control valves used in shower
- Temperature control water control valves used in shower.

AIR DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM
A highly efficient space conditioning and ventilation system, together with well insulated ducts, provides optimum efficiency.

FLOOR INSULATION
Off-grade homes have R-19 insulation between joists. Slab floors have rigid foam R-5 insulation installed along the perimeter.

INFILTRATION VAPOR BARRIER
All exterior joints and penetrations are caulked. Weatherstripped or otherwise sealed. It includes one plate sealer and vapor barrier as a minimum.

WALL INSULATION
A combination of wall insulation, batts and sheathing materials making R-19 to reduce heat transfer.

DOOR INSULATION
Weatherstripping with a rigid foam insulation core, plus weather seals to stop air leaks, provide the best protection.

WINDOW INSULATION
Double pane windows or single pane windows with storm windows greatly reduce heat transfer and air infiltration.

MECHANICAL VENTILATION
Continuous ridge vent on the roof combined with attic vents works best to remove attic heat.
